VALUABLE REAL ESTATE,

LOCATED IN AND ADJOINING THE TOWN OF WARRENTON, N. C.

FOR SALE.

The Warrenton Female College is now offered for sale, on reasonable terms. This College has been in successful operation, for over twelve years, and, during that time, it has earned a reputation as an Institution of learning, second to none in N. C.

The location is such as to warrant a full attendance of pupils, being very accessible from any point, especially the Eastern portions of N. C. and Va.

The Committee, who have been empowered to make sale of this property, deem it unnecessary to say more of this Institution as its character for a high grade of scholarship, and the elevated standard of morals inculcated, under the eye and supervision of its late President, E. E. Pasham, is already well known.

The society in which this College is located is known to be equal to any in the South.

There is now a sufficiency of Buildings and other Conveniences attached to this Real Estate, to conduct a large and flourishing school. The premises consist in about SIXTY ACRES of Land a material portion of which is within the Corporation. This, with all or a part of the furniture, &c., belonging to the same, can be purchased with the land and buildings. This property will be offered privately for sale until Wednesday the 3rd day October next, and, if not then sold, will be on that day sold, at public auction, to the highest bidder.

The Committee are fully authorized to sell, and would say that a rare chance is offered to any party wishing to purchase such property, as time sufficient, if required, will be given. Possession given immediately.

Any person or party wishing to examine the property will be shown it by E. E. Pasham, the present occupant, or by any one or more of the Committee.

FOR THE CONSTITUTION OF THE UNITED STATES, AS IT IS, AND THE UNION AS IT WAS.
NO FURTHER AMENDMENTS.

FOR GOVERNOR.

JONATHAN WORTH,

OF RANDOLPH.

President Johnson,—The New Orleans Riot.

The reports from the terrible riot at New Orleans are so sensational and contradictory that it is difficult to arrive at the exact truth of the details. Enough, however, is known, to satisfy the Radical madmen that the leaven of their diabolical schemes is working, and that the Freedmen's Bureau and Civils Rights Bills are bearing their legitimate fruit. Enough is known to establish the fact that the first effort to subvert the Constitution of a Southern State, for the purpose of replacing it by another disfranchising white men and enfranchising negroes, has been met with a desperate and sanguinary resistance, in which the victims, almost without exception, were the negroes themselves. Enough is known to show that the second attempt to force the infamous Constitutional amendment upon an unwilling people has resulted in tumult and blood.

It passes comprehension how any Southern man, in view of the tendencies and results of the hellish plans of the Radicals, as developed in recent occurrences,—in view of the ruin, degradation, and other horrible consequences to our people,—can extenuate, much less advocate, them. Only a few days ago, a fraction of the Tennessee Legislature, regardless of all the forms of decency or law, assumed to ratify the Howard amendment in the name of that State; and now the people of Louisiana have learned that they are to be cheated, if possible, of their birthright, and handed over to political thraldom by a handful of unscrupulous Radical agents and emissaries. There are those in this State who would have had the late Convention, chosen for a different and specific purpose, adopt it, in defiance of authority, and even in advance of Congress, and who, even now,—with the New Orleans tragedy, in its blood-red garments, staring them full in the face,—insinuate the idea, in the event of the rejection by the people of the amended State Constitution, now being passed on at the polls, of "the loyal men of the State assembling in Convention and forming a new State Constitution!" What is meant by "loyal men" is easily inferred. The men,—and those only,—who have tied their desperate fortunes to the Juggernaut of Radicalism, who pronounce the President's policy a failure, who have been disappointed in their political aspirations, and who have been repudiated by the masses of our conservative people, are embraced in the designation. And as we are told is the case with the Louisiana Convention, that it is composed mainly of those who were at one time or other, in some shape or form, identified with the Confederate cause, so the greater portion of those, who would now inaugurate civil commotion in North Carolina, are men who, for years before the struggle, sought to bring it on, and who, in its earlier stages, were most active in "letting slip the dogs of war." And the people know these men and have their eyes upon them!

Sad and tragical as are the recent events in Louisiana, they have been productive of one great good, in that they have brought from the President the grand and patriotic determination announced in his telegraphic instructions to the Attorney General of the State, which we publish in another column. It is an "unmistakable" warning to agitators and revolutionists everywhere, in North Carolina as well as Louisiana and Tennessee, that the strong arm of the government shall be employed to put down turbulence and sedition, and support and sustain the civil law and authorities. He tells the Attorney General to call on the military for a sufficient force to aid the civil authorities "in suppressing all illegal or unlawful assemblies, who usurp or assume to exercise any power or authority without first having obtained the consent of the PEOPLE OF THE STATE. If there is to be a Convention, let it be composed of delegates chosen from the people of the WHOLE STATE. THE PEOPLE MUST BE CONSULTED in reference to changes of the organic laws of the State.—USURPATION WILL NOT BE TOLERATED."

Here, as the Richmond Dispatch truly observes, is something new in this age,—it sounds like a voice of other days. It is encouraging to true patriots and honest men,—it brings out at last the true principle that the people, in their majesty,—the people of the whole State, and the whole people of the State, are the source of authority and power, and power or authority attempted to be exercised without their consent or approbation is a usurpation; and what is more, and better still, "usurpation will not be tolerated." All honor to Andrew Johnson!

CORRECTION.—Our attention has been called to the fact, that our statement that the amended Constitution requires all persons to be natives, to fill the higher offices of State, is incorrect.—We find, on examination, that, to fill the office of Governor, a man must have been a citizen of the State five years and a citizens of the United States twenty years.

SIX members (two-thirds,) of the Tennessee delegation, recently admitted into Congress, support President Johnson and oppose the Constitutional amendment.

THE most practical evidence of the bitterness of the Radicals of Congress against the South, is, that every proposition to appropriate any thing to the improvement of the South was defeated.

"There is no doubt about the loyalty of Mr. Jones, the representative elect from the mountain district; and there is as little doubt as to the loyalty of Mr. Pool, one of our Senators elect."—Standard.

Can any one tell us what is Mr. Holden's test of loyalty? Can any one give us a clear definition of the Radical test? Indeed, what does loyalty mean in the American dialect or nomenclature? In good English its meaning is definite and appreciable, but we confess that a dense fog envelopes it, when attempted to be defined by Radicals, strait-sect men, or by any Northern Republican vocabulary.

Now, here, there are two gentlemen brought forth by Mr. Holden, about whose loyalty he says there can be no doubt. But no man can be a loyal man, in the Radical sense, who has not kept the law always. The "test oath" is a law, and yet neither Mr. A. H. Jones nor Mr. John Pool can take that oath, conscientiously or honestly. We have heard that Mr. Jones can take it, and will take it when it is presented to him. If loyalty means one who was always loyal in intention and act, which is the proper legal construction of the "test oath," then it is clear that neither Mr. Jones or Mr. Pool can take it or have been always loyal.

Mr. Holden says that Mr. Jones can take it, because he did not "seek" the position of a member of the Legislature, in 1864, when he was a candidate. But Mr. Holden admits that he was brought out by his friends, and he must have assented to it. Nay, further, Mr. Holden says Mr. Jones had an object in consenting to be a candidate. "His object was to come to Raleigh to take steps to call a State Convention to arrest the war," &c. Now could he have an "object" in desiring to be elected a legislator, and yet not desire or seek the position? Mr. Jones was in camp, did not want to fight, but wanted to go to the Legislature for an object. Is it not possible that he wrote to his friends about it, and that the principal object why he wanted to be a legislator was to get out of the army? It looks like it, when, on his failure to be elected, he deserted. Now the "test-oath" prohibits having sought office in the Confederacy, either directly or indirectly. How, then, can Mr. Jones take the "test-oath?"

Again, Mr. Pool cannot take it. He was a chosen Davis elector in 1861, and voted for Jefferson Davis as the permanent President of the Confederacy. Later still, his private conversations with his friends satisfied them he was an ardent friend of the Southern cause,—that he sought the office of Brigadier General in the army, and his Eastern county friends name other facts as evidence of his loyalty to the Southern cause. Where, then, is the proof of the loyalty of Mr. Jones and Mr. Pool, if the having been always loyal is the only test of it now?

VIRGINIA.—The various Virginia Committees of the old political parties assembled in Richmond, on the 1st., for the purpose of appointing delegates to the Philadelphia Convention. The following admirable selections were made, viz:

A WRITER in the Lynchburg News urges forcibly the building of the Lynchburg and Danville Railroad.

PRISONERS OF WAR.—In reply to a resolution of the House of Representatives calling upon the Secretary of War for the number of prisoners of either side held and that died during the war, he makes the following report: Number of Union prisoners South, 260,940; number of rebel prisoners North, 200,000; number of Union prisoners died, 22,576; number of rebel prisoners died 26,436.

We find the above paragraph in the Washington Union of Tuesday evening, and take it for granted that editor speaks from the record.

What a commentary the simple, severe statistics present on the loyal falsehood of Congressional buncombe and Harper's Journal of Civil (and political) Lies-ation!

Out of 261,000 Union prisoners, 22,500 died. Out of 200,000 Confederate prisoners, 26,500 died. The Union prisoners exceeded the Confederate prisoners sixty-one thousand; yet the deaths of Union prisoners fell below those of Confederate prisoners six thousand.

Two "Yankee" prisoners died out of over twenty-three in Southern pens. Two "rebel" prisoners died out of every fifteen in Northern pens.

Put that in your moral pipes, ye whited sepulchres.—Pet. Index.

Gen. Ewell was serenaded the first night of his arrival in Winchester, by the fine band attached to the Eighth United States infantry, now stationed at that place. This little incident will tend more to reconstruction on the right basis than all the rant of Sumner, Stevens, and their cohorts, until doomsday.—Jefferson Spirit.

THE PHILADELPHIA CONVENTION.—All the New England States have taken measures to be represented in the National Union Convention at Philadelphia in August.

Prentice acquits President Johnson of the folly of making Brownlow a Governor. He says:

"This moral Caliban of a Provisional Governor was appointed by President Lincoln, who knew incomparably less of him than Andrew Johnson did."

METHODISM IN AMERICA.—Philip Embury and Barbara Heck were the only Methodists in America one hundred years ago. Now there are twenty bishops, seventeen thousand ministers, twenty-seven thousand local preachers, Sunday-school teachers, etc., two million communicants, nineteen thousand churches, two hundred colleges and academies, and twenty book-stores.

THE ASSASSINATION PLOT.

EXCULPATION OF JEFFERSON DAVIS.

Minority Report of Judiciary Committee.

ASTOUNDING DEVELOPMENTS OF CORRUPTION.

Subornation of Perjury.

Demand for the Trial of Mr. Davis.

(CONCLUDED.)

The testimony of Merritt was not, as already stated, accusatory of Mr. Davis, but of those persons who, according to Conover, acted for Mr. Davis, or with his assent, in Canada.

Merritt says he was introduced to George N. Sanders by Col. Steele; that he (Steele) said of Lincoln, that the —— old tyrant never will serve another term if he is elected, and that Sanders then said he (Lincoln) would keep himself mighty close if he did serve another term.

"About the middle of February, a meeting of rebels was held in Montreal, to which I," says Merritt, "was invited by Capt. Scott. I should think there were ten or fifteen persons present. Among them were Sanders, Steele, Scott, George Young, Byron Hill, Caldwell, Ford, Kirk, Benedict and myself. At that meeting a letter was read by Sanders which he said he had received from 'the President of our Confederacy,' meaning Jefferson Davis, the substance of which was that if the people in Canada and the Southerners in the States were willing to submit to be governed by such a tyrant as Lincoln he did not wish to recognize them as friends or associates, and he expressed his approbation of whatever measures they might take to accomplish this object. The letter was read openly in the meeting, by Sanders, after which it was handed to those present, and read by them, one after another. Col. Steele, Young, and Hill, and, I think, Capt. Scott, read it. I did not hear any objection raised."

Merritt goes on to say that Sanders then named a number of persons who were willing and ready, as he said, to engage in the undertaking to remove the President, Vice President, Cabinet, and some of the leading Generals, and that there was any amount of money to accomplish the purpose, meaning the assassination—the names of Booth, Harper, Randall, and Harrison. (Surratt,) and one Plug or Port Tobacco, (Atzerodt.) Sanders said, according to Merritt, that Booth was heart and soul in this project, because Beall, hung in New York, was his cousin. Sanders thought disposing of the leading men would satisfy the people they had friends in the North, and incline them to grant the South better terms.

Merritt says also, that on the 5th of April last, in Toronto, he met Harper and Ford.—Next morning Harper, Caldwell, Randall, Holt, and a man called Texas, met him at the Queen's Hotel, and said they were going to the States to kick up the damnedest row that had ever been heard of. An hour or two after meeting Harper again, Merritt says Harper told him if he did not hear of the death of Old Abe, and of the Vice President, and of General Dix in less than ten days, he Merritt, might put him down as a damned fool. This was the 6th, of April. Booth was mentioned as being in Washington. On the 8th of April, Merritt says he found that Harper and Caldwell had started for the States.

Merritt says he then went to Squire Davidson, a justice of the peace, to have them stopped; but Davidson thought the thing too ridiculous to notice.

(The only Justice of the Peace of that name in Canada denies any such information being given him by Merritt at all.)

Merritt says that, in February, 1865, Clay told him, in Toronto, that he knew all about the letter Sanders had exhibited at the meeting in Montreal, and on Merritt's asking what he thought about it, replied, he thought the end would justify the means. Merritt swore to Aiken, in cross-examination at the trial, that he had never received one dollar from the Government for furnishing any information from Canada, nor had he received anything "from the rebels for services rendered them."

To all this, Merritt swore. I cross examined him under oath, and in that examination he contradicted all the foregoing, and admitted that he had received in actual pay an aggregate of six thousand dollars for his information from the Government of the United States, through the War Department. For his testimony and services the sum of six thousand dollars in the aggregate. And that cross-examination, fully disproving his testimony in chief, the committee would not allow the reporter to translate from his notes.

The testimony of Conover, being wholly invalidated by his contradictions, would amount to nothing unsupported, with its evident perjuries unexplained. When Mr. Holt forwarded it with the rest he accompanied the whole with an explanatory argument, whose every sentence is redolent with the logic of prosecution, and, to me, it almost seemed as if it revealed something of personal motive in the conviction. There is certainly nothing in it of the amicus curiæ spirit, nothing of the searcher after truth, nothing but the avidity for blood of the military prosecutor. The sending of any argument to convince the committee was, in itself, a step of doubtful propriety; as the committee were supposed by the representatives of the nation to be able to draw their own conclusions from the testimony, and hence were appointed to do so, and the House by appointing them had given the strongest evidence that they did not desire to adopt those of Mr. Holt, already tendered. The sending of an argument might be explained as the natural effect of that habit of directing verdicts acquired in the Bureau of Military Justice; but the sending of such an argument I feel compelled to attribute to a desire to place his own views so before the committee as to render investigation a mere matter of form, and I believe this was done to hide the disgraceful fact that the assassination of Mr. Lincoln was seized upon as a pretext to hatch charges against a number of historical personages, to blacken their private characters, and afford excuse for their trial through the useless forms of a military commission, and through that ductile instrument of vengeance in the hands of power, murder them. I do not say that Judge Holt did himself originate the charges, or organize the plot of the perjurers, because I do not know that he did. I merely say that a plot based on the assassination, was formed against Davis, Clay, and others, and that the plotters did, and even yet operate through the Bureau of Military Justice, and that the argument forwarded by Mr. Holt to the Committee on Judiciary looked to me like a shield extended over the plotters, extended, it may be, from no personal animosity to Messrs. Davis, Clay, and the others; extended, it may be, with a desire to save certain officers of the Government from the charge of having been betrayed into the mistakes of a vague apprehension, the blunders of an excitement, which it was their province to allay or control not to increase or share; but still extended over acknowledged, self-convicted, most wicked perjury, and the fact that Mr. Holt did himself pay moneys to more than one of them, to those who acknowledged they swore for money, may awaken suspicion that there was bribery, as well as perjury; perhaps not conscious bribery, but the payment for false testimony was committed; though it may have been done innocently, it produced the usual effect of subornation of perjury.

For the sake of humanity and justice, I would in this report press upon the House a request that the cross-examination of Merritt be translated and published. I am aware that the Executive, acting under the advice of Senator Wilson, of Massachusetts, and other gentlemen of loyalty no less known, has released Mr. Clay on parole, and that the release is in itself an acknowledgment that the President disbelieves, not only Merritt's testimony, but also that of every one of the members of the plot. But this is not sufficient. It is due to all the accused that the nation at last see and recognize the flimsiness and malice of these monstrous perjuries.

Let it be recollected that Conover's own exposition of his perjuries was made in Canada during the trial, and then how are we to account for this man's not only being left at large, but being sent as a competent witness to testify before a Judiciary Committee of this House, and this testimony, already disproved, accompanied by an argument from Judge Holt shaped to induce a belief in it?

The testimony of Henry Finegas going to implicate George N. Sanders and Wm. C. Cleary led me to investigate his character and credibility. I find he was almost reared by a man named Price, in Boston, now residing in Washington, and known as a gambler and prize fighter; that Finegas adopted and followed the professions; that he went with Butler's expedition to New Orleans, entered the service, held a commission, left the service on account of misdemeanors known to Gen. N. P. Banks; that Finegas next appears a detective in Norfolk, and for certain crimes is expelled the Department of Virginia and North Carolina, in company with another detective, named Long.

And thus one by one I find each and all of the witnesses brought forward at the so called trial to implicate Jefferson Davis, Clement C. Clay, Jacob Thompson, and others, to be either convicted perjurers or men of infamous life, and, therefore, the first conclusion to which I arrived is, that all the testimony taken to establish said complicity, under the pretence of proving a general conspiracy, is wholly unworthy of credit, and that its ex parte reception even by that court, and the protection of the witnesses, was an act highly reprehensible, discreditable to the officers of the court, a disgrace to the nation and its military service, under a misapplication of the powers and regulations of which this conspiracy to alarm the people and jeopardize the reputation, liberty, and life of innocent men was fostered and partially consummated.

With the testimony taken at the celebrated trial was forwarded from that strange receptacle of evidence, "the Bureau of Military Justice," affidavits taken since.

Among these was the affidavit of one Campbell, acknowledged by him to be such, and to haae been sworn to at the said Bureau. Campbell was brought before us and asked if the contents of that affidavit were true. He said it was all false. He was then asked—

"Why did you make it?"

"I was informed by Conover that Judge Holt had offered a reward of one hundred thousand dollars for the capture of Jefferson Davis; that he (Holt) had no authority really to do it; that now Jefferson Davis was taken, they had not enough against him to justify them in what they had done; that Judge Holt wanted to get witnesses to prove that Davis was interested in the assassination of Mr. Lincoln, so as to justify him in paying the $100,000."

"I never lived in New Orleans."

(In his affidavit he had sworn he did.)

"I never was in Richmond."

(He had sworn to residing there.)

"I do not know John Surratt, and never saw him."

(He had sworn to conversations with him.)

"I never saw Jefferson Davis. The evidence was prepared by Conover. I saw him prepare a portion of it. I never was in the Confederate service. I never saw Benjamin. Conover said I should be well compensated for my evidence. My proper name is not Campbell, but Joseph Horne. My evidence was taken in Judge Holt's office."

Speaking of the other witnesses, Campbell swore:

"Joseph Snevel is not his real name. His name is Roberts."

"Farnham B. Wright is not his real name: it is John Waters."

"John H. Patton is not his real name; it is Smith."

"Sarah Douglas is not her real name. Her name was Dunham." (This is Conover's true name.)

"There was another woman sworn. She gave an assumed name."

One of these women was Conover's wife; the other his sister-in-law.

"Conover told me that if I engaged in it, it was not going to hurt anybody; that Jeff. Davis would never be brought to trial, and that if this evidence got to him he would leave the country. Conover directed me to assume the name of Campbell. There was a person described by that name who was supposed to be implicated in that affair, and I was representing that party."

"I met Conover first by the appointment of Snevel. Snevel said I could make money out of it. Money was my motive. I received $625. I received $100 from Conover and $500 from Judge Holt. I got $150 at Boston and $150 at St. Albans."

"I went to Canada to hunt up a witness to swear false, who was to represent Lamar. Snevel and Conover together arranged with me to go to Canada."

"Snevel saw the written evidence I was to swear to after Conover wrote it."

These hurried, yet correct extracts from the testimony of Campbell before the committee may seem all-sufficient to gauge the value of Conover's evidence, Snevel's and his own; but lest they should seem to lack confirmation, I append extracts from that of Snevel, sworn May 24, 1866.

The deposition he made before Mr. Holt was read to him.

He stated it was "false from beginning to end."

"Conover wrote out the evidence and I learned it by heart."

"I made it to make mony."

"I received $375 from Holt."

"I received $100 from Conover."

"Farmen B. Wright's name is really John Waters."

"Joh McGill is an assumed name, not his."

(These witnesses of two names each were witnesses who had been procured by the Bureau of Military Justice, and who had testified to corroborate the testimony of Conover and Merritt as Campbell and Snevel did.)

Snevel further says:

"I told Conover that I was coming on here to testify to the truth; that I had not had any rest since I swore to what I did. He said I would be in a worse fix then than I was now. This was last Saturday. He said things would be settled, and there would be no further trouble. When the false evidence I was to swear to was read over to me by Conover, Campbell and Conover's brother-in-law, Mr. Ansen, were present."

"Conover said he knew what Holt would ask me, and Conover asked me the same questions. I gave this false evidence before Mr. Holt. When I got wrong Conover would nod his head. Conover was present when I was sworn by Holt.—When Conover would nod I would correct it as near as I could. Campbell and I rehearsed at the hotel in Washington."

Conover in his testimony said: "I was asked if such a sum would be satisfactory. I said it would. I can't tell how much I received."

"Conover was an agent of the Government to hunt up evidence."

Having but little time to end this report, I will not swell it with any additional extracts from the confessions of these people.

Conover was present when Campbell and Snevel testified thus plainly to his villainy.

I must inform the House that Conover alias Watson, alias Dunham, etc., etc., was not ordered into arrest; that the committee, at his request, permitted him to go to New York to procure other testimony. One officer was sent with him, and Conover effected his escape, of course; has not been heard of since, and has probably left the country. Whether any efforts have been made to catch him I know not; but, as he was the teacher and guide of perjuries committed by the other witnesses procured through the Bureau of Military Justice, it would seem the solemn duty of this Government to apprehend, try, and punish so foul a criminal, and in his trial ascertain what temptations, and through whom they came, led him to the manufacturing of so awful a plot. Conover it was who found Montgomery. Conover it was who found Merritt, Campbell, Snevel, and the rest; who rehearsed and taught them, and, as professor of perjury, watched his pupils in their delivery thereof at lesson-time before Judge Holt.

Judge Holt himself was a witness before the committee. He of himself knew nothing, of course, but he swore to his own opinions, derived from the trust-worthy testimony of the parties described, for whose testimony they say the Judge himself paid them.

The testimony and revelations of Campbell and Snevel, the absconding of Conover, were not needed by me to aid in forming my opinion of the value of Montgomery's perjuries or those of Conover; still when they testified so clearly, when the females of Conover's family were shown to have also been sacrificed by him to this demon of falsehood for lucre, the cool turpitude of the whole crew sickened me with shame, and made me sorrow over the fact that such people could claim the name of American, while I wondered who the hidden arch-conspirator behind Conover might be.

The transparency of the whole plot, the imbecility of its organization and management, its ease of discovery by the poorest tests of the cheapest logic, betrayed in the framer so complete a reliance in popular credulity, so thorough an appreciation of the maxim that the masses of men believe improbable lies more readily than those colored with an air of truth, that I could scarce resist the desire of having Campbell, Conover, Snevel, the woman, and the rest all arrested and handed over to the reliable civil tribunals of the country, charged with purjury.

The proof was within easy reach, plain and cumulative. I felt the honor of the nation required the punishment of those people, were it only in atonement for the credulity of those in its high places who had so readily credited or appeared to credit and act upon such a tissue of absurdities, and so stated my views to the committee.

Not one of these witnesses, nor the parties using and instructing them, if any besides Conover, possessed any peculiar talent for imposture other than impudence and military power to awe all questionings. A man of sense by trying to give this plot an appearance of probability would most likely have failed sooner, and no less signally, as wise men often do in addressing a multitude, from not daring to calculate upon the prodigious extent of their credulity, especially where the figments presented to them involve the fearful and the terrible. Dr. Pallin, the man Blackburn, Mr. Robinson, and other innocent citizens, nearly fell a sacrifice to the fury and fear of poison, arson and murder which these witnesses created, and owe their safety only to a peculiarity of our national temperament. We are most easy of all people satiated with bloody punishment. Other nations are like the tame tiger which, when its native appetite for slaughter is indulged in one instance, rushes on promiscuous ravage. We rather resemble the sleuth dog, which, eager, fierce, and clamorous in pursuit of his prey, desists from it as soon as blood has been sprinkled upon his path.

The whole of this affair, which would simply pass down to posterity as an absurdity unsurpassed in the history of nations, were it not for the serious dangers and consequences it came near entailing, was drawn into the arena of politics.

A few weeks ago a Radical editor wrote: "Would that the hands of Booth had been less steady, that of Atzerodt more sure;" and a woman, in the employ of the Government, published an accusation against the President as one of the conspirators against the life of Mr. Lincoln. Recollecting that the taking of his own life was a leading object of Atzerodt's and Booth's, one may say of Andrew Johnson what a writer of the Popish plot said against Charles the Second: "He should be tried for conspiring his own death and hanged in terrorem."

That this plot, to prove designs of poisoning by infection, of complicity with the past and future assassinations, should have culminated into such absurdities, is natural, for falsehood run mad outstrips itself, and the dangerous allegations of Conover, Merritt, Hyams, Campbell, Snevel, Montgomery, and Finegas have their prototypes in other lands and times, though to Conover, the original idea of advertising for his own apprehension as a false witness is an everlasting claim to a high place in the pages of the Causes Celebres of this age. Thank heaven, however, that we are only to blush at the fact that, upon the accusation of the most infamous of mankind, common informers, incited, if not bribed, by offers of reward, of these scourings of jails, and the refuse of the detective office, a Government like ours should brand those who had been its ministers with crimes known only to the inferior civilization of the middle ages, and that we have not to sorrow over their guilt.

Who originated this plot, and placed the Government in so embarrassing an attitude, I cannot ascertain. The jealous secrecy and care exercised by the gentleman from Massachusetts in keeping most of the documentary evidence from me for careful perusal, the secrecy attending every step of these proceedings, makes certainty on my part impossible as to the authorship of these ill-linked perjuries. Although I do not attribute the course of the committee towards me to any desire on their part to screen themselves, and I am so deeply impressed that there must be guilt somewhere, that I earnestly urge upon the House an investigation of the origin of the plot concocted to alarm the nation, to murder and dishonor innocent men, and to place the Executive in the undignified position of making, under proclamation, charges which cannot, in face of the accused, or even in their absence, stand a preliminary examination before a Justice of the Peace.

It was not till noon Friday, yesterday, the last day but one of the session, that the committee, and the gentleman from Massachusetts, allowed me to read the testimony, or parts thereof, that my memory alone should not be trusted to report. It was then within twenty-four hours of its adjournment that Congress, through this committee, allowed me to get ready to prepare this report, when the unfinished business of the session was crowding upon me, and no time was left me to pursue to the head the villainies I detected in the hand, or I might have been able plainly to tell Congress and the country that if, in this plot, we had a titus Oates in Conover, so also we had a Shaftsbury somewhere. Had more than twenty-four hours been allowed me, or had those twenty four hours been less burthened with other duties requiring immediate discharge, I might have been able, in addition to exposing the perjury, to have told this House who concocted it; who screened it,—I do not attack the committee; why it was concocted and screened; and finally, why a committee of Congress acted towards one of its own members like a Venetian council of ten, whose legislation and inquiries were being kept secret for the benefit of some Foscari.

Need I add, in conclusion, that, neither in verbal or written testimony, there is no credible evidence whatever to criminate Mr. Davis as an accomplice before or after the fact in the murder of Mr. Lincoln? There is not any evidence worthy of the slightest credit that connects either Mr. Clay, Mr. Cleary, Mr. Thompson, Mr. Tucker, Dr. Pallin, Mr. Stuart, nor any others, charged therewith, now at liberty, with that assassination, directly or indirectly.

Nor is there the slightest possible tinge of probability, according to the results of investigation, that any plot or plans ever did exist among those charged therewith to poison or infect with fevers the good people of this nation.

I cannot agree with the statement made in the concluding paragraph of the majority report, that—

"It is the duty of the Executive Department of the Government for a reasonable time, and by the proper means, to pursue the investigations for the purpose of ascertaining the truth."

The Government, through the Bureau of Military Justice, has pursued its investigations over one year with the rigor of military power, and the expenditure of vast amounts, and in Conover, Campbell, Snevel and company we have the result of their labors. How long is Mr. Davis to be under these imputations without even a preliminary examination? This is worse than the treatment of D'Enghien, worse than the quicker cruelties of an auto-da-fe. Disagreeing with the majority report on this point as on most others, I believe it to be the duty of the authorities holding Davis to give him a preliminary examination, as provided by the usages and practices of all civilized nations. If in that examination it be found there remain anything unsatisfied, it is the duty of the Government to immediately hand him to the civil tribunals, that he and the others accused may have opportunity to show to the world the malice and falsehood of these wicked accusations.

The discoveries of the doings of the Bureau of Military Justice render it a duty that whatever be done in this matter hereafter, be done in a less suspicious locality, and freed from secrecy. Evil motives alone fear the light. The Government of this country should have in this matter nothing to hide or fabricate in darkness.

As regards the charge of treason, that is already before the proper tribunal, and I have only to express surprise that the judicial branch of the Government should so long have deferred the trial, and that a prisoner could be ready for trial so long, ask for it persistently, and yet in defiance of law and usage be so long denied it.

The assertion that legislation by Congress is needed ere the crime of treason can bring a man to trial is wholly unfounded, and sounds like a shiinking from the fulfillment of a most plain duty.

THE SENTINEL.

Friday Evening, Aug. 3, 1866.

CITY AND STATE ITEMS.

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.—The North Carolina Petroleum and Mining Company lay the details of their organization, and their plan of operations, before the public, to-day. The scheme apparently presents a fine opportunity for investment. The mineral lands owned by them are known to abound in almost unexhaustible deposits, while the geological indications are such as obtain in regions where oil has been struck. The result of explorations thus far is every way favorable to its existence and discovery, and we hope soon to be able to announce that its presence is an ascertained fact. There is no estimating the material wealth to the State that its discovery would yield. The Board of Directors of the Company are men of energy and persuasance, who will know no such word as "fail" in their enterprise.

Messrs. Nichols, Gorman & Neathery are Agents for the sale of Judge Battle's Digest, just issued from the press. The work is invaluable to the profession, and has been compiled with the author's well-known ability and patient research. See advertisement.

Rufus H. Page will purchase a limited quantity of the growing crop of Cotton.

THE ELECTION.—Only fifty-six votes were polled at the Raleigh box, on yesterday,—of which number forty-one were for the ratification of the amended Constitution, and fifteen for rejection. The polls will remain open until Saturday evening, but the indications are that a very small vote will be given.

BISHOP ATKINSON.—A letter from this distinguished divine to a gentleman in this City, under date of July 17, says: "I know you will be glad to learn that my health has greatly improved already." The many friends of the Bishop will be delighted at this announcement.

N. C. INSTITUTION FOR THE DEAF, DUMB AND BLIND.—The next session of this institution will commence on Monday, September 3d. Arrangements have been made to accommodate an increased number of pupils, and we hope all friends of the Institution will use their exertions in securing the attendance of all the Deaf and Dumb and Blind children in the State.

Application has been made for the admission of pupils from other States, and the Board of Directors have authorized the reception of all who make early application for the next session. The terms of admission are two hundred dollars for a session of ten months. This sum includes the payment for board—tuition, fuel, lights, &c. All applications must be addressed to the Principal, at Raleigh, N. C.

THE WILMINGTON Journal suggests to the Ladies of the Memorial Association, of that city, that they invite Mr. Wheat to give a series of his delightful concerts, in furtherance of its patriotic objects, and also that they ask Gen. R. E. Colston (now Superintendant of the Hillsboro' Military Academy) to deliver his fine lecture on "Stonewall Jackson" in the same behalf. Both gentlemen would doubtless accede to the request.

AT A RECENT meeting of the Directors of the First National Bank of Wilmington, Asa K. Walker, Esq., was appointed Cashier.

The date of opening the Bank has not been fixed upon.

WASHINGTON, N. C.—A great revival of religion is progressing in Washington, N. C., under the ministerial labors of the Rev. Jno. L. Long.

A good deal of sickness,—principally bilious fevers,—is prevailing in the same town.

AMONG the visitors at the Rockbridge Alum Springs, Virginia, are the Hon. John M. Morehead, and nephew, of this State. The former is said to have been quite unwell from the effects of jaundice, but his health is now improving.

INSURANCE.—Many of our citizens are insuring their property in P. F. Pescud's Agency, and very naturally feel concerned to know how the companies he represents have fared by the late destruction of the City of Portland by fire. We find, by authenticated statements, shown us this morning, that it was not the Phœnix of Hartford which lost $140,000, by the late fire, but the Phœnix, of New York. The Phœnix of Hartford only lost $37,800 and the Atlantic, of Brooklyn, another of Mr. Pescud's companies, $5,000, all of which was paid eight days after the fire. From the semi-annual statement, ending 1st. July, it appears that the old Phœnix and Atlantic are still rising in confidence and popular favor.

July 1866, Gross Assets of Phœnix, of Hartford	$1,043,772,13
Unadjusted Losses	49,803,93
Net	993,968,20
July 1866, Gross Assets of the Atlantic	$452,501,55
Unadjusted Losses	15,512,26

The semi-annual statements of the Insurance Co. of the Valley of Virginia, and Jefferson, of Scottsville, Va., have not been received, but there are no Companies in Virginia regarded as more safe, reliable and prompt than these. The Valley has paid promptly, in eight years, losses to the amount of $822,874,20, and the Jefferson $112,000.

A Dr. Fekete has been arrested in New Orleans and held in $5,000 bail, on the charge of causing the death of a little girl and little boy, who, suffering from chills and fever, both died in two hours after taking some medicine he administered to them. After the little girl died, when the medicine given to her was prescribed for her brother, he said, "Uncle, I don't want to take that medicine; it killed sissy, and it will kill me." "Oh, no," was responded, "it was not the medicine that killed your sister." The little fellow replied, "May be not, but I wish you would let me see my pony before I take it, because I don't believe I will ever see him again." He was shown the pony, took the medicine, and in one hour afterwards was a corpse.

The New Orleans Riot—Release of the Prisoners by the Military—The Number of the Killed and Wounded—Orders from the President—No further Disturbances Apprehended.

NEW ORLEANS, July 31.—The citizens are pursuing their usual business avocations. The prisoners arrested yesterday have been released by General Baird. The casualties sum up: thirty negroes killed and several policemen dangerously wounded. Dr. Dostie, who was mortally wounded, has since died.

LATER.—The following has just been received, and will be promptly executed:

WASHINGTON, July 30, 1866.

Andrew Sherron, Attorney General of Louisiana:

You will call on Gen. Sheridan or whoever may be in command, for a sufficient force to sustain the civil authorities in suppressing all illegal or unlawful assemblies who usurp, or assume to exercise, any power or authority without first having obtained the consent of the people of the State. If there is to be a convention, let it be composed of delegates chosen from the people of the whole State. The people must be first consulted in reference to changes of the organic laws of the State. Usurpation will not be tolerated. The laws and Constitution must be sustained, and thereby peace and order.

[Signed] ANDREW JOHNSON.

No further disturbances are apprehended.

DR. DOSTIE—WHO HE WAS.

The Dr. Dostie mentioned as killed is a Northern dentist and a member of the Convention. The New Orleans Picayune, in its account of the Radical negro meeting on the 27th, says:

"The crowd gathered in and outside of the Mechanics' Institute were principally composed of negroes. Judge Hawkins, John Henderson, Jr., M. Hahn and Dr. Dostie addressed the meeting. Their language was vindictive and violent. The last named speaker went so far as to advise the negroes to assemble armed at the Mechanics' Institute, on Monday next, (the day specified for the meeting of the Convention), and to resist by force of arms any authority that dared to interfere with the Convention. This is but one sentence of a number of the same character, made by the various speakers, and is in keeping with the whole tone of the meeting.

After the meeting adjourned, the negroes formed in procession with torches and marched up our principal thorough-fares, yelling and shouting. At the City Hall they halted, and were addressed by Dr. Dostie and another individual, whose name we did not learn. Most of the crowd were armed with sticks and clubs—Dr. Dostie, in conclusion, advised the crowd to go to their homes, and if molested by white men to "kill them."

THE TENNESSEE SWINDLE.—The Nashville Banner of the 22d. says all doubts as to Speaker Heiskell's course in regard to this matter may now be dismissed. He has positively refused to sign the joint resolution for ratification, on the ground that it was pushed through the House in the absence of a quorum.

FORT MONROE, July 31.—Charles O' Connor, Esq., principal counsel of Jeff. Davis, arrived here rather unexpectedly this morning at an early hour, unaccompanied by any one, on the steamer George Leary, from Baltimore. He proceeded at once to the fortress, and has remained there all day in close consultation with his client. The precise nature of his visit is unknown, except that the recent report of the Judiciary Committee to Congress has seemed to make Mr. DAVIS rather anxious concerning his anticipations of a release, or a speedy acquittal when tried.

A GOOD ONE.—The following conversation, which was told us on yesterday as having recently taken place in this city between a minister of the gospel and a little eight year old Sunday School girl, is too good to be lost:

The little girl was sick, and the minister called to see her, and was endeavoring to interest her in eternal things and lead her thoughts to Heaven, when he said to her tenderly—

"My daughter, do you know there is a place where people are never sick, where there is no pain or sorrow, and where people never die?"

"Oh yes," said the little girl, her face brightening, "it's Kittrell's Springs."—Petersburg Express.

BATTLE'S DIGEST.

The Digest of all the reported law cases in North Carolina, from the earliest period to the present year, is now nearly ready for the binder. It will consist of about 1200 pages, including the table of cases, &c.—The book has been so arranged that it can be bound in one volume, or in two, according to the preference of the purchaser.

The cost of publication has been greater than was expected, in consequence of the book being larger, and it is ascertained that the author cannot afford to charge less than $15 for the volume or volumes of the Law, and $10 for the Equity volume to be paid on or before the delivery of the volumes respectively. The work, though containing much more matter, will cost but little more in currency, than was formerly charged in gold or its equivalent for the aggregate of Iredell's and Jones's Digest.

When a purchaser wants an interleaved copy, he will so state in his order for the work. There will be an additional price of one dollar for such copy.

We have consented to act as agents for Judge Battle in the sale of the Digest, and now solicit immediate orders, accompanied with directions as to how the book shall be bound, &c.

The printing of the Equity volume will be commenced without delay.

PROSPECTUS.

This company owns by warranty title nearly fourteen thousand acres of mineral lands, situated in the counties of Chatham, Moore, Rockingham and Stokes, on the waters of Deep and Dan Rivers, in North Carolinia, which abound in plentiful deposits of coal, copper, iron, salt, and, there is every reason to believe from general and surface indications, petroleum or coal oil.

The services of two practical and efficient men, experienced in boring for oil, and stimulated by a long course of success in Venango county, Pennsylvania, were secured by the company several months since and they are now on the lands, with the requisite force, tools, steam engine and machinery, boring a well with very flattering prospects of success. The organization of this company effected some time since has now been perfected in legal form, by act of incorporation, with a capital of $500,000, divided into 100,000 shares of $5 each.

By reference to the valuable and laborious reports of Prof. Emmons, State Geologist, and Commodore Wilkes, U. S. Navy, every one interested will be enabled to judge of the value of the large area of territory secured by the North Carolina Petroleum and Mining Co.

It is well known that a superior article of bituminous coal is now being mined in the Deep river coal region, where a portion of the lands are situated, and this company owns property known to be equal if not superior to any on which shafts have been sunk. Copper, iron and salt also abound, and the attention of capitalists has already been directed to this section on account of its value for the above minerals.

Below are given a few extracts from the journals showing that there is no good reason why there should not be as large quantities of oil in the "Old North State" as in other States.

Oil has been struck in Overton county, Tennessee, on the north line of that State, about midway from its eastern border, eighteen miles from the Cumberland mountains.—Christian (Richmond) Observer.

OIL WELLS IN WEST VIRGINIA.—The Parkersburg Times gives an astonishing statement of the yield of wells in the region thereabout, consisting of Wood, Wirt, Ritchie and other counties, viz: Burning Springs, 2,500 barrels per day; White Oak, 1,500; Lick Run, 300; Horse Neck, 150; and of the several wells on Hughes river, 6,000 barrels per day. The quality is said to be remarkably fine. The Times considers the oil of West Virginia the best yet discovered.

THE OIL EXCITEMENT IN ILLINOIS.—The oil excitement in Clark county is still high. Some eight or ten derricks are up and at work. The deepest well is only 325 feet, with a fair yield of oil. Some of the other wells have struck oil and gas at from 70 to 100 feet.—Much time and money will be spent this summer in the thorough development of the oil resources of Clark county. Men of capital and experience seem confident that oil will be found in large quantities, and are willing to test their faith by a free expenditure in developing the lands. The first company who bored on the land of Hon. T. R. Young, are now engaged in trying to raise the auger which was lost last fall. The Eastern Illinois Company will begin work in a few days twelve miles southwest of the first well. The prospect in that locality is good.—Chicago Tribune.

It is known that after a few months boring in the vicinity of Lynchburg, a large vein of oil was struck and a productive well is now in successful operation. This is on the same line with, and about 80 miles from, the company's first well on Dan River, where the indications both general and particular are similar.

In order to have sufficient means to develop this valuable property in such a manner as to insure success, the Directors have authorized 10,000 shares of the capital stock to be sold to raise a working capital, and subscriptions for that number or any part thereof will be received.

An uncommonly favorable opportunity for investment is thus afforded, as those who choose to buy stock under this offer will have the advantage of an equal footing with the original corporators in an enterprise which, after the example of the immense profits realized in those of a similar character in other States, though in many respects on less favorable conditions than this, (compare the extent, cheapness and fee simple title of the beds of operations here offered) gives reasonable assurance of the most lucrative results. In many instances in sections of less favorable oil localities, shares have advanced in a few days from $2 or $5 to $20 and even $50, and poor men who made small investments realized fortunes.

Further information may be had at the office of the company, one door north of the Court House, Greensboro, N. C., where books of subscription are now open.

By order of the Directors.

A New Era In Medicine!

☞ Let the Suffering and Diseased read the following.

☞ Let all who have been given up by Doctors, and spoken of as incurable, read the following.

☞ Let all who can believe facts and can have faith in evidence, read the following:

Know all men by these presents, That on this, the Twentieth day of June, in the year of our Lord, One Thousand Eight Hundred and Sixty-Six, personally came Joseph Haydock to me, known as such, and being duly sworn, deposed as follows: That he is the sole general agent for the United States, and dependencies thereof, for preparations or medicines known as MAGGIEL'S PILLS and SALVE, and that the following certificates are verbatim copies to the best of his knowledge and belief.

L. S. JAMES SMEITER,
Notary Public,
Wall Street, New York.

June 1, 1866.

DR. MAGGIEL:—I take my pen to write you of my great relief and that the awful pain in my side has left me at last—thanks to your medicine. Oh, doctor, how thankful I am that I can get some sleep. I can never write it enough. I thank you again and again, and am sure that you are really the friend of all sufferers. I could not help writing to you, and hope you will not take it amiss.

JAMES MYERS,
116 Avenue D.

This is to certify that I was discharged from the army with Chronic Diarrhœa, and have been cured by Dr. Maggiel's Pills.

WILSON HARVEY,
New York, April 7, 1865. 27 Pitt Street.

The following is an interesting case of a man employed in an Iron Foundry, who, in pouring melted iron into a flask that was damp and wet, caused an explosion. The melted iron was thrown around and on him in a perfect shower, and he was burnt dreadfully. The following certificate was given to me by him about eight weeks after the accident.

New York, Jan. 11, 1866.

My name is Jacob Hardy; I am an Iron Founder; I was badly burnt by hot iron in November last; my burns healed, but I had a running sore on my leg that would not heal; I tried Maggiel's Salve, and it cured me in a few weeks. This is all true, and any body can now see me at Jackson's Iron Works, 2nd Avenue.

J. HARDY,
119 Georick Street.

Extract from Various Letters:

"I had no appetite; Maggiel's Pills gave me a hearty one."

"Your Pills are marvelous."

"I send for another box, and keep them in the house."

"Dr. Maggiel has cured my headache that was chronic."

"I gave half of one of your pills to my babe for cholera morbus. The dear little thing got well in a day."

"My nausea of a morning is now cured."

"Your box of Maggiel's Salve cured me of noises in the head. I rubbed some of your Salve behind my ears and the noise left."

"Send me two boxes; I want one for a poor family."

"I enclose a dollar; your price is twenty-five cents, but the medicine to me is worth a dollar."

"Send me five boxes of your pills."

"Let me have three boxes of your Salve by return mail."

One Pill Three Times A Day, before meals, and should be found in every family residing in miasmatic districts.

To any skeptic or one who does not believe in these marvellous preparations,

A Box Will be sent Free

If he is not cured with one and not more than two boxes, no charge will be made. The price of the Pills is high—say per hour are easily made. The machine is built entirely of Iron, very compact and easily transported. It works VENEERS, STAVES and BOX STUFF, and out of the same number of bolts of timber, one third more Shingles are made than can be done by the Sawing Machines. All the saw dust is saved by the Empire and goes into the Shingles.
